STATE OF RHODE ISLAND

IN GENERAL ASSEMBLY

JANUARY SESSION, A.D. 2025

SENATE RESOLUTION

SUPPORTING THE RECOGNITION OF THE POKANOKET TRIBE AS THE ANCIENT AND ONGOING STEWARDS OF THEIR ANCESTRAL HOMELAND, AND ACKNOWLEDGING THEIR CENTRAL ROLE IN SHAPING THE REGION'S PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE

Introduced By: Senators Ujifusa, Urso, Britto, McKenney, Gu, Appollonio, Sosnowski, Raptakis, DiPalma, and Murray

Date Introduced: May 07, 2025

Referred To: Recommended for Immediate Consideration

1 WHEREAS, The Pokanoket Tribe is the ancient and continuous steward of the lands now
2 known as Bristol, Warren, Barrington, East Providence, and parts of Providence, including Mount
3 Hope (Montaup), the seat of Pokanoket government and the home of Massasoit (Great Sachem)
4 Ousamequin; and

5 WHEREAS, The Pokanoket Tribe was the headship tribe of the Pokanoket Confederacy, 6 which included over 60 Tribes and Bands united by cultural, linguistic, and historical ties, and 7 continue to uphold traditions, protect sacred sites, and revitalize languages across Rhode Island 8 and southeastern Massachusetts; and

9 WHEREAS, The Pokanoket people developed sophisticated systems of governance, 10 diplomacy, and environmental stewardship long before European contact, values they continue to 11 uphold through formal tribal structures and spiritual practice; and

12 WHEREAS, In 1524, Italian explorer Giovanni da Verrazzano described the Pokanoket
13 peoples at Mount Hope Bay as “the goodliest people” he had seen, noting their strength, dignity, 14 and generosity; and

15 WHEREAS, In March 1621, Massasoit Ousamequin entered into a treaty with the 16 Plymouth Colony, ensuring mutual protection and peaceful coexistence that lasted for more than 17 fifty years; and

18 WHEREAS, The Pokanoket sheltered and nursed an ailing Roger Williams back to

1 health, contributing to the founding of Rhode Island in 1636; and

2 WHEREAS, Massasoit Ousamequin was laid to rest at Burr’s Hill in Warren, Rhode 3 Island, a sacred site, and in 2017, the Wampanoag Repatriation Confederation secured the return
4 of sacred items from the Smithsonian under the 1990 federal Native American Graves Protection 5 and Repatriation Act; and

6 WHEREAS, Members of the Pokanoket tribe, including Simeon Simon in 1781, served 7 in the Revolutionary War, fighting with American soldiers; and

8 WHEREAS, Throughout the 20th and 21st centuries, Pokanoket leaders like Princess 9 Red Wing (Mary E. Glasko Congdon), Frederick Weeden, and Sagamore William “Winds of 10 Thunder” Guy have advanced Indigenous rights, cultural preservation, and sovereignty, including 11 helping to secure the return of sacred lands from Brown University in 2017; and

12 WHEREAS, The Pokanoket Tribe continues to engage in educational initiatives, land 13 stewardship, and cultural celebrations across their homeland, ensuring their history remains vital 14 to Rhode Island’s identity; and

15 WHEREAS, In 2021, the Tribe marked the 400th anniversary of the 1621 treaty, and 16 dealing with centuries of challenges, including the erosion of land rights, broken treaties, and 17 unfulfilled promises—with enduring strength and resilience; and

18 WHEREAS, In November 2024, Brown University, as part of its commitment to 19 preserving the land and ensuring sustainable access for Native tribes with ties to it, transferred 20 ownership of 255 acres of its Mount Hope property in Bristol to a preservation trust established 21 by the Pokanoket Tribe; and

22 WHEREAS, This land holds significant ancestral importance for the Tribe, being the 23 home of Metacom (King Philip) and the site of his death during King Philip's War, and the 24 transfer ensures access to this historically and spiritually vital land and water; now, therefore be it

25 RESOLVED, That this Senate of the State of Rhode Island hereby supports the 26 recognition of the Pokanoket Tribe as the ancient and ongoing steward of its ancestral homeland, 27 and acknowledges its central role in shaping the region’s past, present, and future; and be it 28 further

29 RESOLVED, That this Senate hereby honors the Pokanoket Tribe’s ancestors and living 30 descendants, and commits to promoting and protecting their cultural heritage, sacred lands, and 31 rightful place in Rhode Island history; and be it further
